“Your Virtual Grant Agent”

“Why do I need a virtual grant writer?”

Grants can be an excellent way to get funding to your organization and can make a significant impact on its' ability to excel. Obtaining a grant is not easy though, you must turn in a proposal that will wow the agency offering the grant, and there is usually pretty stiff competition. Only eight percent of grant proposals receive funding, and with odds like that, this is not something you want to DIY. If you hire a professional grant writer (or underwriter), you can increase your chances of getting that much-needed funding, since they know the nuances involved in grant proposals and can make your proposal shine. At USNEPS, we will look at why you should seek funding by grant and the writing skills needed to target the grant you need. So instead of writing the proposal yourself. We assist you in that development and research making your chance greater than 75% more likely in obtaining that grant (or funding you need). In addition, if we don't get you funded with one year of your membership we will fund you ourselves.

What is a Grant Writer?

Grant writers research, draft, and submit proposals that help organizations or individuals receive grant funding. To be eligible for funding, an organization or individual must have an objective that aligns with a grant's specifications. Many grant writers, like USNEPS, work for for-profit & nonprofit or charitable organizations. The key benefits.

1. A clear increases of your likelihood of winning the grant,
2. Grant support services, and
3. General grant research services.

We take 10 cases each year for underwriter support (free of charge). Local churches get free ecclesiastical grant support every Saturday of the month (members only). All members get five hours of grant support for any not-for-profit group. There is a non-refundable members' fee of $35.00, plus a case assessment fee of $10 per month, on all new members or clients for agent.
